

Path to Higher Education

CICS high school seniors set their sights on college

The Chicago International mission is to provide, through innovation and choice, an attractive and rigorous college-preparatory education that meets the needs of today's student.

High school seniors are encouraged to apply to at least three post-secondary schools. As students navigate the college admissions process, each student has the tough job of choosing ultimately one school he or she will attend en route to higher education.

This map highlights some of the schools to which Chicago International's class of 2010 has been admitted.
